This toolkit has been developed to assist sport and recreation organisations to develop strategic and operational plans.

Strategic and operational planning is at the foundation of an organisation’s activities. A strategic plan sets out where your organisation is heading and why it’s heading there. An operational plan details how your organisation will get there.

This toolkit provides a process and tools to develop a strategic and operational plan.

This toolkit will help those involved in sport and recreation organisations to better understand the environment in which their organisation functions, its strengths, weaknesses and any issues the organisation may be attempting to address.

The toolkit contains a series of task sheets. Multiple copies of some task sheets will need to be printed or photocopied for distribution amongst the planners. The number of copies required is noted in the instructions of each work sheet. Other task sheets such as the attendance should be printed off just once.

The majority of task sheets also include a partially completed version, for the facilitator to use to prompt participants or to give examples of the style of answers required. At the back of the resource is a series of sheets to guide the facilitator through collating and condensing the information gathered during the planning sessions to produce the strategic and operational plan. A number of these task sheets are available online:

- Strategic Plan Template (Word)
- Strategic Plan Brochure Template (Publisher)
- Club Snapshot Template (Word)
- Strategic and Operational Planning Presentation (Powerpoint)

What you’ll need

The facilitator of the planning sessions should have a complete copy of this toolkit, as should anyone taking notes.

Each participant should have:

- agenda
- copy of each task sheet and planning grid
- ground rules
- pen and notepaper

Other useful items and equipment

- Data projector/projector screen
- Laptop computer
- Power board/extension cords
- Pens/highlighters
- Sticky notes/butcher paper
- White board markers/eraser
- Stopwatch
- Name stickers/badges
- Sample generic plans
- National sport plans
  - Strategic plan
  - Operational plan
- State sport plans
  - Strategic plan
  - Operational plan
Planning enables an organisation to:
- define its values and main objectives
- have greater control over its direction
- be proactive rather than reactive
- build teamwork
- improve financial performance
- learn from and avoid past mistakes
- evaluate performance.

Planning involves your organisation discussing:
- the purpose of your organisation
- where your organisation is currently at
- where your organisation would like to be in the future
- how your organisation might get there
- how you know when your organisation gets there
- national sporting organisation strategic plans
- state sporting organisation strategic plans
- local government recreation/open space plans
- ways to measure progress.

Planning seeks:
- a clear and common direction
- objectives, strategies and actions
- allocation of responsibility and resources
- time frames
- ways to measure progress.

Planning is for a specific audience:
- organisation members and their families
- board/committee
- local council
- new members
- sport and recreation organisations
- funding bodies.

A good plan will:
- enable the organisation to decide how it will reach an objective
- help the organisation move beyond crisis management to sensible planning and use of resources
- help to resolve issues of sequence or the order in which things should be done
- provide a basis for holding people accountable for what they do
- provide a basis for measuring and reviewing progress
- provide a basis for job descriptions
- provide a basis for budgeting.

Why plan?
Types of plans

Strategic plan
The strategic plan outlines the organisation’s direction for the future and a broad framework of goals and objectives to be achieved in line with this direction.

The strategic plan typically applies across a three to five-year period, and identifies the areas that need particular attention during this period to ensure the organisation gets to where it wants to be.

If the objectives identified in the strategic plan are to be achieved, it is essential the related strategies are further mapped out in an operational plan that details specific actions to be undertaken.

<table>

Types of plans

Operational plan

The operational plan details how the organisation will accomplish the goals, objectives and strategies outlined in the strategic plan. It includes the actions to be undertaken in line with the strategic plan objectives, who are responsible for carrying out these actions, and the time frames, costs and key performance indicators associated with these actions.

The operational plan should apply to the life of the strategic plan, but should be reviewed on a regular basis to ensure sufficient progress is being made towards achieving the objectives and so priorities can be revised as necessary.

Readiness assessment - task sheet 1

This assessment will help to identify what needs to be done prior to commencing the strategic and operational planning process.

The organisation’s management team should work through the assessment.

Score your project or organisation as follows on each statement:

- 0 = yes
- 1 = somewhat
- 2 = no.

Where a statement has two parts and you would answer ‘yes’ to one part but not another, then go with the weaker response.

So, for example, you may be able to answer ‘yes’ your organisation has a constitution, but does not abide by it all the time. Your response then is ‘somewhat’.

If your total is between 0 and 10 then your organisation is ready to undertake the planning process.

If your total is between 11 and 20, then your organisation would benefit from putting in place some key structures/documents. These would be ideal to focus on during the planning process.

If your total is between 21 and 30, then your organisation would benefit from undertaking key tasks prior to commencing the planning process. These tasks should be evident from the answers.

It is important for the team managing the planning process to meet well in advance of the actual planning sessions. This will enable the team to consider the following critical parts of a successful planning session:

Facilitators - An experienced facilitator helps and should be considered. However, this toolkit has been created to assist organisations independently manage their planning. A scribe or assistant for the facilitator should also be considered.

Background - Ensure the facilitator is properly informed about the organisation, including: structure, history, achievements, membership, programs, events, partnerships, marketability, challenges, opportunities, future and potential goals.

Date/s - You can either run multiple short sessions or a single long session.

Time/s - Think about when you are most likely to have the most people attend, weekdays or weekends, business hours or after hours.

Venue - Make sure the venue has accessible amenities (especially if you’re using it after hours), tea and coffee facilities, seating, space for a projector or whiteboard, access to power and heating.

Session requirements - keys, projector, butcher paper, tea and coffee, catering and heating.

Invitees - It’s important to invite a broad spectrum of people to the planning sessions. Consider inviting: management, board members, staff, participants, community stakeholders, state/national association and local council.

Pre-planning questionnaires - Leave a few days between the return of the questionnaires and the first planning session to allow time to adapt the session to meet the needs of the organisation. More questionnaires completed and returned equals less time needed on the planning day.

Agenda - Set an agenda following the agenda guidelines. Distribute the agenda to participants well ahead of the session.

Supporting documents:
- constitution/by-laws
- policies
- previous plans
- strategic/operational plans from relevant governing bodies for the sport
- strategic/operational plans from similar organisations
- position descriptions for staff/board members/volunteers
- fee structure
- annual report.
This questionnaire will help participants in the planning process to prepare themselves so they can make a useful contribution to the process. The facilitator will also use the responses to shape the planning session/s and to gauge the current situation of the organisation. A Word version of the Participant Questionnaire is available online.

You’ve distributed the questionnaire to planning participants and now need to sort through the information.

Information from the questionnaires can be offered as suggestions and indications on the day and serve as a catalyst for conversation but the plan must be developed by consensus on the day.

The answers to the questionnaire will give you a fair idea of some of the topics that will need to be discussed on the day and the direction the plan is likely to take. Spend some time drafting the answers together to present to the group on the planning day. For example the answers relating to question nine about culture will be useful to set a starting point for discussing and establishing values for the organisation.

Similarly the answers to each question will be useful in setting starting points for the following:

Register
As participants arrive, they should add their details to the attendance register (task sheet 1).

Welcome and introductions
The facilitators should introduce themselves and any other facilitators and explain the reasons why they have been asked to facilitate the planning session. Housekeeping should be covered and then everyone should be given the opportunity to introduce themselves and explain their role within the organisation.

Expectations and concerns
During introductions it is often insightful to ask people to briefly describe what they expect and what they are concerned about the planning process. These expectations should be recorded to refer back to during the planning session (task sheet 5).

Roles in the planning session
It is important to clearly outline what roles everyone will need to play during the planning session. Participants are the experts of their organisation, so their role is to provide the practical knowledge, facts and history required to complete the tasks and own the outcomes of the process. The facilitator is there to assist with the process and guide the conversation where necessary. Their role is to keep the session on track, and to coordinate the knowledge and expertise in the room into a workable plan.

Ground rules
It is important to set some clear and basic ground rules to ensure the session runs smoothly. Sometimes organisations can have a history of infighting or distinct factions that need to be bought together on the planning day. The facilitator should discuss how the group should work together towards the creation of the plan. The behaviour at the planning session should be an example of how the organisation will operate moving forward.

Purpose: To identify and understand the core purpose of the organisation.

Time: 10 minutes as a whole group

Resources: Task sheet 10 (one copy)

Steps:

1. Consider the following questions.
   - Why does the organisation exist?
   - How would you describe the organisation to a non-member?
   - If the organisation can only do a handful of things what is the most important?
   - Who does the organisation serve and how does it serve them?

2. Record the responses on your task sheet.

The information from these tasks may be relevant:

Organisation history (task sheet 7), stakeholder analysis (task sheet 8).

</tr>
<tr>

Steps:
1. Ask participants to make small groups of two or three.
2. In this group, using the core purpose.
3. Draft a mission statement based around your analysis of the information and thoughts.
4. Draft a one to two sentence statement which describes the mission of the organisation.

Question 6 of the Pre-Planning Questionnaire asks participants about the mission of the organisation.

This information should be presented to the full group now.

The information from these tasks may be relevant:

Organisation history (task sheet 7), stakeholder analysis (task sheet 8), core purpose analysis (task sheet 10).
Draft a one to two sentence mission statement in the box provided.

A mission statement should include:
- what the organisation is
- what the organisation does/achieves
- who the work is aimed at (the target group).

Key words
Provide, protect, cater, grow, promote, include, create, service, champion, offer, save, represent, build, train and encourage.

Examples
Save lives in the water (Surf Life Saving Tasmania, 2011).
The Launceston Bike Plan will encourage increased participation in cycling by improving the quality and quantity of safe cycling opportunities for Launceston residents and visitors (Launceston Bike Plan, 2004-2009).
The North Esk Rowing Club will cater for a diverse range of members needs whilst seeking success in both competition and recreational rowing. The club will develop quality facilities and equipment, through well organised and enthusiastic management committees (North Esk Rowing Club, 2003).
Purpose: To clarify the behaviours which are encouraged by all who participate at the organisation.

Time: 20 minutes

Resources: Task sheet 12 (one copy per group)

Steps:
1. Make small groups of two or three and list the behaviours you would like to see exhibited by everyone involved with the organisation.
2. List common themes that appear in the listed behaviours.
3. Create a values statement or series of statements that capture these common themes.

Question 9 of the pre-planning questionnaire asks participants to list what they think the culture of the organisation is. This information should be shared with the group now.

The information from these tasks may be relevant:

Do well/do better (task sheet 9), core purpose analysis task sheet 10).
A values statement is a commitment from the organisation to behave a certain way. Your organisational values are the shared values that underpin your work as an organisation and your relationships with users and other stakeholders.

They are what you believe is:

• the right way to do things
• the right way to deal with people
• how your organisation should work.

Some decisions your values will assist you to make in your organisation are:

• Should we work with this group of people, or project, or organisation?
• Should we spend money on this?
• Is what we are doing worthwhile or could the money be better spent doing something else?
• How should staff/volunteers behave when they approach and do their work?

Key words

Act, deliver, passion, share, right, embrace, partnership, excellence, diverse, drive, healthy, learning, fun, respect and achieve.

Examples

We act with integrity.

Our people matter.

We make a real difference. (Dept. of Economic Development, Tourism and the Arts, 2010) teamwork - national unity through constructive relationships.

autonomy - of state and territory associations.

professionalism - demonstrated through integrity.

progressive - adapt to the changing needs of society.

</table>

Question 6 of the pre-planning questionairre asks participants to draft a vision statement.

This information should be shared with the group now.

The information from these tasks may be relevant:

- Futuring (task sheet 13), mission statement (task sheet 11) and values statement (task sheet 12).
Draft a one to two sentence vision statement in the box provided.

Why is a vision statement important?

It is an easy way to communicate to others what you strive for and will become.
It helps you to clarify and focus your work towards one shared future.
If any of these components change, then the vision statement needs to change as well.
It is important to review your vision statement from time to time.

A vision statement will include the following components:

What the organisation will be.
What the organisation will do/achieve.
Who the organisation will work with (the target group).

Key words:
Modern, successful, strong, high-profile, well-managed, professional, active, healthy, motivational, stable, industrious, responsive, pro-active, fun and inclusive.

Examples:
All Tasmanians participating in sport, recreation and physical activity as part of their everyday life (Surf Life Saving Tasmania, 2009).
Bowls – The sport for all Australians
We will stimulate innovation of the business and sport of bowls so that peak bodies and clubs become known for their delivery of excellent services and resources, so facilities become contemporary community venues and the game attracts people of all ages and backgrounds (Bowls Australia, 2009-2012).
The North Esk Rowing Club will be a modern, successful club – with strong membership, sound finances and an outstanding future (North Esk Rowing Club, 2003).

Strategic planning: goals - task sheet 15

| Purpose: | To specify the main focus areas for the organisation. |
| Time: | 10 minutes |
| Resources: | Task sheet 15 (one copy) |
| Steps: | 1. Review the major goal areas that were identified at the pre-planning meeting or through the pre-planning questionnaires and what each one entails. |
| | 2. Consider whether there any major areas of the organisation that have been missed and if so add them to the list of potential goals? |
| | 3. Vote for the three goals that you feel are most important for the organisation to focus on for the life of the plan. |
| | 4. After voting have a brief discussion about the goals that are definitely included and those that may be dropped due to low votes. |
| | 5. After voting check the following. |
| | • Do we have all the bases covered? |
| | • What is the main focus? / Does it align with the mission statement? |
| | • Where will this take us? / Does it align with the vision statement? |
| | • Are these the right things to focus on? / Does it align with the values statement? |

Six broad areas that are commonly included in strategic goals for sport and recreation organisations are:

- Participation
- Sport development
- Administration
- Promotions and marketing
- Finance
- Facilities and infrastructure

These areas may be sufficient or you may want to narrow the categories. For example, governance may be a significant enough area to stand on its own rather than as a sub category of administration, similarly events may come out of promotions and marketing.

The information from these tasks maybe relevant: core purpose analysis (task sheet 10), mission statement (task sheet 11) vision statement (task sheet 14).

Strategic planning: SWOT analysis - task sheet 16

Purpose: Analyse the organisation’s current situation in terms of strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats (SWOT).

Time: 30 minutes

Resources: Task sheet 16 (enlarge to A3 – one copy per goal)

Steps:

1. Split into groups, one group per potential goal if possible.

2. Analyse the organisation’s performance in the goal area and list the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats (SWOT) of and to the organisation.

3. Briefly report back to the whole group.

4. After the SWOT you should encourage discussion to come to consensus on which goals should be included in the plan and what the scope of these goals will be.

Questions 1, 2, 4 and 5 of the Pre-planning Questionnaire asks participants to list the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats of the organisation as a whole; this information should be shared with the group now.

The information from these tasks may be relevant:

- Do well/do better (task sheet 9), PEST analysis (task sheet 6), mission statement (task sheet 11).

The operational plan details how the organisation will accomplish the goals, objectives and strategies outlined in the strategic plan.

It includes the actions to be undertaken in line with the strategic plan objectives, who are responsible for carrying out these actions, and the time frames, costs and key performance indicators associated with these actions.

The operational plan should apply to the life of the strategic plan, but should be reviewed on a regular basis to ensure sufficient progress is being made towards achieving the objectives and so priorities can be revised as necessary.

The key components of the operational plan include:

- Strategies
- Actions
- Prioritise actions
- Timeframes
- Resources
- Responsibility
- Performance indicators
- Risk management
- Communication plan
- Review of plan

Strategic and operational planning toolkit for sport and recreation organisations

Last updated February 2015

46
Purpose: To recap the values statement, mission statement and vision statement from the strategic planning sessions.

To confirm the goals and objectives.

To introduce the planning grid as the resource for operational planning.

Time: 30 minutes

Resources: Task sheet 20 - planning grid (enlarge to A3 – one copy per goal).

Steps:

1. Review the values statement, mission statement and vision statement from the strategic planning sessions.

2. Confirm, change and/or add to the goals and objectives.

The remainder of the operational tasks will be completed on the planning grids.

The planning grids provide a simple way to record the information from the following steps.

There should be a planning grid for each goal/objective.

It is best to print/copy the sample planning grid as an A3 sheet.

Note: A Word version of the Operational Planning Grid is available online.
Purpose: To confirm the strategies that the organisation will implement in order to achieve the objectives.

Time: 30 minutes

Resources:
- Task sheet 18
- Planning grid (task sheet 20)

Steps:
- Split into groups, one group per objective if possible.
- Distribute task sheet 18 from the strategic planning session and confirm, change and/or add to the strategies.
- Ensure that the listed strategies, if achieved, will enable achievement of the objective.
- Ensure that the listed strategies will contribute towards achievement of the vision.

Transpose confirmed strategies from task sheet 18 to the planning grid (task sheet 20).

The remainder of the operational tasks will be completed on the planning grid.
Strategic and operational planning toolkit

Operational planning: actions - task sheet 22

Purpose: To detail the actions that the organisation will undertake in implementing the strategies.

Time: 20 minutes

Resources: Planning grids (task sheet 20)

Steps:

Split into groups, one group per objective if possible.

- Brainstorm actions that need to be undertaken to implement each strategy (many strategies will require more than one action to be implemented).

1. Add confirmed actions to the planning grids.

2. Ensure that the listed actions contribute to the implementation of the strategy.

3. Ensure that each action is specific, measurable, achievable, reviewable and time-bound.

Example:

Strategy – Attract and retain members.

1. Advertise junior programs in local school newsletters.
2. Host an annual Come and Try Day
3. Implement national sporting association grass roots participation program in conjunction with Active After School Communities.
4. Implement exit surveys for non-returning members.

Most strategies will require more than one action to achieve them and that it is the action stage which breaks large tasks down into smaller components.

Depending on group size, groups may need to develop actions for two or more objectives.

Participants should add confirmed actions to the planning grids.
Purpose: To give a priority rating to each particular action: low, medium or high, giving an indication of which actions should be completed earlier or later in the plan.

Time: 10 minutes

Resources: Planning grids (task sheet 20)

Steps:
1. Split into groups, one group per objective if possible.

2. Determine which actions require other actions to be completed first to be viable.

3. Prescribe a priority rating to each action. Actions that need to be completed for other actions to take place should be awarded a higher priority than the preceding action.

4. If there are a lot of actions give each one a priority out of ten with ten being the highest and allocate L/M/H priority as follows:
   - low: 0-4
   - medium 5-7
   - high 8-10

The actions cannot all be high priority.

Depending on group size, groups may need to allocate priorities for two or more objectives.

Participants should add confirmed priorities to the planning grids.
Operational planning: timeframes - task sheet 24

Purpose:
Describes the ‘due date’ for completion of each action.

Time:
20 minutes

Resources:
Planning grids (task sheet 20)

Steps:
1. Split participants into groups, one group per objective if possible.
2. Determine which actions require other actions to be completed before they can begin/progress.
3. Allocate a timeframe to each action (at least month and year) – remembering that the plan runs for a number of years and the organisation needs to be realistic about its workload, especially if relying on primarily volunteer input.

It is the purpose of the plan to achieve the objective by the end of its lifespan (typically in three to five years – not the end of the current year).

Participants should complete the timeframe, resources and responsibilities tasks simultaneously.

Depending on group size, groups may need to allocate time frames, resources and responsibilities for two or more objectives.

Participants should add confirmed time frames, resources and responsibilities to the planning grids.
Purpose:
To determine the resource implications: financial/material/human of each action.

Time:
20 minutes

Resources:
Planning grids (task sheet 20)

Steps:
1. Split into groups, one group per objective if possible.
2. Determine what resources are required for each action to be achieved. Assess the need for resources against the three categories.

3. Allocate resources to each action and ensure that the organisation has the capacity to supply/provide these resources.

   Complete the timeframe, resources and responsibilities tasks simultaneously.

   Depending on group size, groups may need to allocate time frames, resources and responsibilities for two or more objectives.

   Add confirmed time frames, resources and responsibilities to the planning grid.

Operational planning: responsibility - task sheet 26

| Purpose: | Allocate who is responsible for completing/overseeing the action. |
| Time:    | 20 minutes |
| Resources: | Planning grids (task sheet 20) |
| Steps: 1. | Split into groups, one group per objective if possible. |
|          2. | Determine who in the organisation is responsible for each action. |
|          | Allocate responsibility to a particular position or committee rather than to a specific person. For example give responsibility to the secretary but not to Jack Brown (the current secretary). |
|          | Be aware of overloading a particular person or volunteer, it is often the president or general manager that receives the majority of responsibilities and if one individual receives too much responsibility the work will often not be able to be completed. |
|          | Complete the timeframe, resources and responsibilities tasks simultaneously. |
|          | Depending on group size, groups may need to allocate time frames, resources and responsibilities for two or more objectives. |
|          | Add confirmed time frames, resources and responsibilities to the planning grid. |
Purpose: To establish what a completed action looks like for the purpose of monitoring and measuring performance.

Time: 20 minutes

Resources: Planning grids (task sheets 20)

Steps:

1. Split into groups, one group per objective if possible.

2. Think about what will be different if each action is completed, what will exist that didn’t exist before or what will have changed.

3. Ensure that achievement of the performance indicator equates to completion of the action.

4. Ensure that each performance indicator is SMART.

If a performance indicator is going to be of any value, there must be a way to accurately define and measure it:

‘Be the most popular organisation.’

This is not a measurable performance indicator as there is no way to measure the organisation’s popularity or compare it to others.

‘Increase in organisation membership by two per cent.’

This is a measurable performance indicator as it is factual and can be demonstrated through an audit of the organisation’s membership.

Depending on group size, groups may need to allocate performance indicators for two or more objectives.

Add confirmed performance indicators to the planning grid.
Operational planning: Risk Management - Task Sheet 28

Purpose: Assess the potential for elements of the plan to be unsuccessful and how to manage this.

Time: 10 minutes

Resources: Butchers paper

Steps:

1. As a group discuss the concept of risk management and the importance of organisations incorporating risk management into their planning and day to day operations.

2. Select one action from their planning grid and to ask the following questions in relation to this action:

   - What can go wrong?
   - What will we do to prevent it?
   - What will we do if it happens?

Sport and Recreation Tasmania has developed a risk management resource which is available to organisations at www.sportandrecreation.tas.gov.au.

Time: 10 minutes

Resources:

Steps:

1. As a group discuss the importance of regularly reviewing the plan, monitoring progress and updating the plan as achievements begin to occur.

2. Brainstorm some ways that review of the plan could be worked into the standard operations of the organisation. Try to include ways for everyone to contribute towards the review of the plan. Ensure the following parties are included in the review process:

   • external and internal stakeholders

   • committee/board

   • membership base.

3. Develop systems whereby review and updating of the plan becomes standard practice.

The following pages will guide you through the process of compiling the information you have gathered into a strategic and operational plan for your organisation.

This will consist of:

• mission statement
• values statement
• vision statement
• goals
• objectives
• planning grid.

A Word template for your Strategic and Operational plan is available online, along with a Strategic plan brochure template (Publisher format).
1. Review the suggested mission statements (task sheet 11) looking for common phrases that can be grouped together into themes. See if you can keep grouping phrases until each phrase from each statement is in a group (theme).

2. Give a title to each of the themes, for example:
   - a strong emphasis on governance and management practices could be themed as administration
   - a strong emphasis on programs and the sport itself could be themed as participation or sport development.
   You should now have themes made up of a number of phrases.

3. Summarise all the phrases for each theme into a succinct sentence. Where possible, try to use the original language.
   You should now have a sentence for each theme, work all these themes into a single statement which describes what the organisation does. Try to use no more than two sentences if possible. Mission statements can consist of multiple themes.
   For example:
   The mission of <insert organisation name> is to <insert verb> the <insert target market> of <insert location> through <insert core services>.
   The mission of <insert organisation name> is to <insert verb> the <insert sport> through <insert core services>.

4. Where possible try to use the original language.

5. Check that each theme has been included.

6. Seek approval for the mission statement from the organisation.
1. Review the suggested values statements (task sheet 12) looking for common themes that can be grouped together. See if you can keep grouping themes until each statement is in a theme area.

2. Give a title to each of the themes, for example some common values theme areas are respect, community, achievement, honesty, teamwork, partnership, determination, tolerance, innovation, accessibility, reliability or trust.

You should now have a handful of themes with a number of statements.

3. Summarise all the statements for each theme into a succinct sentence.

4. Where possible, try to keep the original language.

5. You should now have a handful of sentences, one for each theme. Work these sentences into a series of statements which describes the values of the organisation.

For example:
* we act with integrity
* integrity – we own our actions and we do what’s right.

6. Select the strongest values statements (between 3 and 6 is common)

7. Check that each of the identified themes have been included.

8. Seek approval for the values statements from the organisation.
1. Review the suggested vision statements (task sheet 14) looking for common phrases that can be grouped together. See if you can keep grouping phrases until each phrase is in a group (theme).

2. Give a title to each of the themes, for example:
   • A strong emphasis on governance and management practices could be themed as administration
   • A strong emphasis on programs and the sport itself could be themed as participation or sport development.

   You should now have a handful of themes with a number of phrases.

3. Summarise all the phrases into one succinct sentence. Where possible try to use the original language.

4. You should now have a sentence for each theme. Work these sentences into a one to two sentence vision for the organisation, using one of the following introductions.
   We strive for…
   We are committed to…
   The organisation will be…
   The organisation creates…

5. Where possible, try to use the original language.

6. Check that each of the themes has been included.

7. Seek approval for the vision statement from the organisation.
1. List the goals identified at the planning session (task sheet 15).

2. Review the objectives (task sheet 17) looking for common themes and group them together.

3. Combine the objectives ensuring you emphasise the common themes.

4. Ensure that all aspects of the objective are relevant to the goal.

5. Check that the objective relates to the SWOT analysis (task sheet 16) in that it:
   - plays to the goal strengths
   - improves on the goal weaknesses
   - takes advantage of the goal opportunities
   - minimises the goal threats.

6. Once you have drafted an objective for each goal check that the objectives together will enable achievement of the organisation’s vision.

7. Where possible try to use the original language. Check that the words and language are consistent and identifiably belong to the participants.

8. Seek approval for the objectives from the organisation.
Putting the plans together: planning grid

1. Review the information supplied
   - Review it row by row, ensuring each strategy and action pans across completely and is strategic, measurable, achievable, reviewable, and time-bound (SMART).

2. Review the strategies
   - Does each strategy enable the organisation to achieve its objective?

3. Review the actions
   - Does each action contribute to the implementation of the strategies?

4. Review the priority
   - Are the priority ratings realistic; is there a workable mix of high to low priorities?

5. Review the timeframe
   - Do the timeframes reflect the life of the plan?
     - Most strategic and operational plans have a three to five year lifespan and actions in the planning grids should fall due across the full breadth of the plan and not all in the first or final year.
     - Check that the timeframes are logical and chronological, that is that the actions are completed in the correct order.

6. Review the resources
   - Check that the organisation has considered the financial/material and human resources needed for each action and that the organisation has or will have the capacity to provide the required resources.

7. Review the responsibility
   - Check that responsibility has been allocated for all actions and that the workload is spread across the committee/organisation.

8. Review the performance indicators
